Council discussed various options for amalgamation other than the ones that we have been meeting with regularly. Chapeski thought that Renfrew, Horton and Admaston should be looked at and comparison figures compiled. Stone suggested that the only way that we would be compatible with Horton would be to split it at the Bonnechere River. Campbell said that the municipalities that we are talking to and Ross are very alike, and Rathwell stated that he ran his campaign on the theory that we not go toward Renfrew and there was no negative response.
